

The Society for Pennsylvania Archaeology, Inc. Newsletter Spring 2018

"Spring is the time of plans and projects."

-Leo Tolstoy

Tolstoy, the famous Russian author, captures my mode pretty well with the aforementioned quote. This being my first western Pennsylvania winter in about decade, I'm eager to see blue skies, sunshine, and of course, the annual meeting. Spring wouldn't be complete without the SPA annual meeting, and I have a feeling this year's will be one to remember.

Our 89th annual meeting, "Of the Past, For the Future: Current Contributions to Pennsylvania Archaeology," will be hosted by the North Fork Chapter, and take place between April 6 – 8th in Dubois, Pennsylvania. You do not want to miss it! For more information about the annual meeting, visit the website www.pennsylvaniaarchaeology.com.

I'm exited to report that we are actively working with other stakeholders across the state to promote the conservation and advocacy for archaeological resources. The SPA has been invited back to take part in another discussion with the Preservation Awareness Roundtable. This group of preservation organizations, along with the Pennsylvania State Historic Preservation Office, is working to advocate heritage awareness and protection for the Commonwealth's many historic (and archaeological!) resources. We are looking forward to taking part in this opportunity and make sure archaeological sites are included in the discussion along with other historic resources.

If you haven't heard yet, the annual SPA Field Trip (June 12-16) will be exploring the Mississippians and their neighbors. We will be visiting some of the most important archaeological sites in the U.S., such as Angel Mounds and Cahokia (and knowing Sarah and John, maybe a vineyard or two). This trip will be one for the ages!

I know there has been some concern about the journal, as we've fallen a bit behind with the publication. I'm confident that under the steady hand of Dr. Roger Moeller, we will be able to catch up and implement the changes requested at the annual meeting. If you have a manuscript or if you are thinking about writing one, I encourage you to reach out to myself or Roger for information regarding the process.

Finally, at the next chapter meeting or event, try to take some pictures and post them on the Facebook page www.facebook.com/societyforPArchaeology. We would love to showcase what everyone is doing around the state!

Can't wait to see everyone at the annual meeting, when the weather is hopefully warmer.

Jonathan Libbon, President, SPA

2018 James W. Hatch Scholarships

The Pennsylvania Archaeological Council (PAC), in cooperation with the Society for Pennsylvania Archaeology (SPA), will again award scholarships to enable students of archaeology to attend the annual joint SPA/PAC meeting, April 6-8, 2018, in Dubois, Pennsylvania. We anticipate that several awards of $100 apiece will be made. We encourage all current college or high school students with a demonstrated interest in Pennsylvania archaeology and the activities of the SPA to apply, although preference will be given to students planning to present papers at the meeting. Applications, in the form of a brief letter of interest explaining the student's background and qualifications for the award, should be sent by mail or e-mail by March 30, 2018 to Paul Raber at: Paul Raber, Heberling Associates, Inc., 904 Main Street, PO Box 376, Alexandria, PA, 16611 praber@heberlingassociates.com, (717) 935-2204

9:30 - 11:30 Pennsylvania Archaeological Council Business Meeting 1:00 - 4:00 PAC Symposium

Archaeologists have History Too: Oral History of Pennsylvania's Archaeological Site Survey

The topic for the 2018 PAC Symposium is the oral history of Pennsylvania archaeology, exploring the themes of site survey history, methodology, and philosophy —or When, How, and Why format for the symposium will involve a short paper touching on different aspects of the history of archaeology in Pennsylvania. We will also take this opportunity to remember and explore the legacies of influential archaeologists who are no longer with us. The second portion of the Symposium will consist of an interview-style roundtable discussion between the moderators and participants. Following a second break, the moderators will provide follow-up questions for the group in a Q&A/discussion session, and questions from the audience will be encouraged. Participants represent a sample of individuals who have been involved in various site survey programs over the past 40 years.

The symposium will kick-off the new Pennsylvania Archaeology Oral History Project.

2018 SPA FIELD TRIP The Middle Mississippians and Their Neighbors

MARK YOR CALENDARS FOR JUNE 12-17, 2018

Pennsylvania Farm Show 2018

The Section of Archaeology at The State Museum Pennsylvania participated in the 102nd Pennsylvania Farm January 6th-13th. Attendance at our booth this year was in excess of 35,000 visitors! This count is based on those Farm attendees who visit our booth and engage in our display. Our theme for this year's exhibit was Foragers to Farmers, the Development of Agriculture in Pennsylvania. The exhibit explored some of the plants that Indians and colonists exploited and how they were utilized by our ancestors. Artifacts from the museum's collections which illustrate these concepts were also on display. Our "magnet" is still the dugout canoe. An authentic reproduction produced using fire and stone adzes in 2005, this water vessel has hosted many a visitor in its twelve years at this and other outreach venues. The dugout is an anchor for our exhibit and many families take their annual photo as a marker of their Farm Show experience.

A corn grinding station utilizing stone tools provided visitors an opportunity to experience food preparation by native peoples prior to the advent of grocery stores. Corn quickly became a food staple after A.D. 1200, spurring dramatic social changes. Small egalitarian groups of people grew into tribal societies. Another station provided information on types of native foods still utilized today and some recipes for visitors to try at home. In addition, we provided the distribution of more than five-hundred Archaeology Month 2017 posters, more than three-hundred SPA rack cards, thousands of the archaeology informational brochures along with tattoos and thematic coloring pages for the kids.

The Farm Show presentation is a fantastic opportunity to advance the goals of our respective agencies and organizations. For most, if not all, this event represents the most intensive interaction with the public that we have all year. Our primary goal is to share highlights of Pennsylvania archaeology with the citizens of the Commonwealth. However, it is also an opportunity to promote visitation to the State Museum, the Pennsylvania Heritage magazine, and the contribution of the Society for Pennsylvania Archaeology. A new feature this year was an opportunity to enter and win a behind the scenes tour of our labs. Nearly a thousand entries were collected into an electronic database for use in notifying individuals about our upcoming activities. The winner, Walter Kanhofer, is very excited to visit and has chosen early May for his tour.

This year, SPA members Ken and Cheryl Burkett, Phil and Sarah Neusius, Dennis Brooks, Steve Israel, John Nass and Sherman Stoltzfus assisted in manning a table promoting activities of the SPA and encouraging new membership. There is a lot of interest from the public in archaeology and where excavations are being conducted and how they might participate. It is unfortunate that we don't receive more information from the chapters to disseminate to our visitors. Thank you to all our volunteers, especially members of the SPA for their fantastic assistance!

A 21st Tour of Prehistory

By Andrew Donovan, Education and Program Manager for the Meadowcroft Rockshelter and Historic Village.

Meadowcroft has an exciting opportunity for anyone with an interest in the world's archaeological heritage. Made Possible through the generous support of the Claude Worthington Benedum Foundation, we have increased our accessibility by creating a virtual tour of our archaeological site that any internet user can use to explore this National Historic Landmark.

To accomplish this, we worked in partnership with Carnegie Mellon University's CREATE Lab to use their GigaPan EPIC Pro series robot and stitching software to turn roughly 200 photographs into one seamless image. A quick visit to www.gigapan.com shows that this technology is usually used for panoramas such as mountain vistas, cityscapes, and even the surface of mars taken by a robot on the Curiosity Rover. Considerably closer to home, but to many no less alien, we used the Gigapan imaging system to photograph the various faces and features of our open excavation. The resulting gigapixel images can be found on the Rockshelter exhibit page: http://www.heinzhistorycenter.org/exhibits/meadowcroft-rockshelter.

To increase the educational might of the images they were imbedded with a series of interest points that house informational material and multimedia content to engage any virtual audience taking advantage of this unique experience. We hope that linking various classroom materials from our award winning First Peoples: Archaeology of the Meadowcroft Rockshelter on-line curriculum to these photos will encourage the use of the Meadowcroft Rockshelter as a resource for education around the globe!

From the SHPO and State Museum archaeologists:

Archaeologists from the PA SHPO and the State Museum have developed a condensed version of the PASS form that can be used by collectors, avocational archaeologists, SPA Chapters, and local museums to record sites for inclusion in the PASS files. The PASS Collector Form focuses on collecting field observations and information about artifacts and features, without including lengthy tables or requiring detailed information about environmental variables. The form is a useful tool that can be easily completed in the field, or it can be used by universities and other organizations to report sites identified by local collectors.

PDF or paper copies of the form may be obtained by contacting the CRGIS staff at: racrgis@pa.gov. Copies of the form will be available at the CRGIS table at the SPA Annual Meeting

Annual Meeting Committee Replacement and Meeting hosts—The SPA is looking for a volunteer to chair the Annual Meeting Committee. Long time Chair, Mary Alice Graetzer has resigned. She served in this post nearly 30 years and continues to serve in the interim. Meeting guidelines can be found in the archives section of the SPA website at: www.pennsylvaniaArchaeology.com

We also are in need of host chapters for 2019 and beyond. There is a chance the Mon-Yough Chapter may host in 2019 or we may have to turn to a commercial venue such as Gettysburg or conference venues in different geographic locations in the state.

The Annual Meeting is a very important part of the SPA. It affords us a time to exchange ideas, conduct business and socialize with our Archaeology Family. Please consider helping with the needs of the Society by serving on a committee, as a chair if asked and support the mission of the SPA

In Memoriam

Jeffrey H. Duncan March 18, 1951 ~ February 16, 2018 (age 66)

Reported to us by Paul Raber:

Jeff was passionate about archaeology and a frequent presence at the SPA annual meetings. Jeff worked with Heberling Associates and just about every other archaeological firm in Pennsylvania and the region. I first met Jeff 30 years ago at the Central Builders site and we continued to meet through work or socially on a regular basis. Jeff was kind and generous to everyone, especially the many young friends he made while working on archaeological sites throughout Pennsylvania and the surrounding region. He will be greatly missed by the many archaeologists who have worked with him. As his obituary says, he never met a stranger. His wife of 50 years, Annie, has asked that donations be made in his memory to the SPA.

Jeffrey H. Duncan, 66, of Muncy, passed away on Friday, February 16, 2018, at UPMC Susquehanna, Williamsport.

He was born on March 18, 1951, in Sunbury, a son of the late Martha (Newbury) Duncan and Wilfred Duncan, who survives. On April 27, 1972, at Rock Run State Park, Ralston, he married his high school sweetheart, the former Ann Phillips, who survives, and with whom he shared his life for 50 years. He worked for Carlucci Aluminum for many years, but it was in 1988 that he discovered his true calling of archaeology, which he pursued over the next 20 years.

Jeff was a brilliant man with a passion for learning, whose knowledge spanned a vast range of areas and topics. He spent his whole life building up those around him, giving his time, the work of his hands, and his expertise with those who asked for his help. He touched a great many lives, giving of himself and being loved in return by many people. He never met a stranger, and made friends wherever he went.

In lieu of flowers, the family suggests contributions in Jeff's name be made to the Society for PA Archaeology at www.pennsylvaniaarchaeology.com.

Note: The SPA is grateful to Jeff and his family for generously naming us the beneficiary of his legacy. To date we have received a number of donations which will be reported in the SPA Fall Newsletter. Acknowledgement will be sent to all donors and Jeff's family.

New Editor Announcement:

Roger Moeller is the new editor for Pennsylvania Archaeologist. The submission guidelines have been revised to be more inclusive of what is appropriate to Pennsylvania archaeology. The turnaround time between submission and publication will be shortened because the editor does not have a real job to cut into his work schedule. For the first time, the editor will be submitting a print ready pdf to the printer. This will be the same process and same printer used for Journal of Middle Atlantic Archaeology. This process is used to enhance the quality of the graphics and to shorten turnaround time. Please direct all questions and submissions to Roger@Quad50.com.

The Society for Pennsylvania Archaeology, Inc. was organized in 1929 to: Promote the study of the prehistoric and historic archaeological resources of Pennsylvania and neighboring states; Encourage scientific research and discourage exploration which is unscientific or irresponsible in intent or practice; Promote the conservation of archaeological sites, artifacts, and information; Encourage the establishment and maintenance of sources of archaeological information such as museums, societies, and educational programs; Promote the dissemination of archaeological knowledge by means of publications and forums; Foster the exchange of information between the professional and the avocational archaeologists
